

Living Life

Life is not a race - but indeed a journey.
Be honest. Work Hard. Be Choosy.
Say "thank you", "I love you", and
"great job" to someone each day.
Go to church, take time for prayer.
The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh.
Let your handshake mean more than pen and paper. Love your life and what you've been given,
it is not accidental - search for your purpose and do it as best as you can. Dreaming does matter.
It allows you to become that which you aspire to be. Laugh often.
Appreciate the little things in life and enjoy them. Some of the best things really are free. Do not worry, less wrinkles are more becoming.
Forgive, it frees the soul.
Take time for yourself - plan for longevity. Recognize the special people you've been blessed to know.
Live for today,
enjoy the moment.

In Loving Memory Of

Curtis Brown

April 21, 1962 - February 15, 2018

¹² God loves you and has chosen you as his own special people. So be gentle, kind, humble, meek, and patient. ¹³ Put up with each other, and forgive anyone who does you wrong, just as Christ has forgiven you. ¹⁴ Love is more important than anything else. It is what ties everything completely together.

¹⁵ Each one of you is part of the body of Christ, and you were chosen to live together in peace. So let the peace that comes from Christ control your thoughts. And be grateful.

~ Colossians 3:12-15

Curt was simply good!

Today we celebrate the life of Curtis Dean Brown, the life he lived and the life he has moved onto. Curt loved life, loved adventure and making the best of it all. He looked out for others and always took care of his family. He was always looking out for his sister and brothers. Curt and his family spent a short period of his childhood in Glasgow, MT and Iran, and later graduated from Richey High School but not before leading them to a state championship as the star quarterback.

Curt met his beautiful wife, Stacey, and the two married in June of 1999. The two together enjoyed life and sharing it with each other. When they weren't traveling, they were simply spending time together; soaking up each other's company. Curt did everything well but mostly he loved Stacey with his whole heart. They had a deep love without measure for each other. Curt was good at love.

Curt was someone who could fix anything. He was a jack of all trades and was great at it. Stacey never had to worry, because she knew he could take care of it. He never left a job undone; he would see it through to the end. Curt was good at everything.

Curt was a man of integrity. He respected everyone. He made a point to give you his attention when he spoke to you. He was genuine and honest. He never left a friend in need, if you needed him, you could count on him. As his faith in God grew, his relationship grew stronger. He was a good friend.

Curt loved sports and being active. If he wasn't actively participating in sports, he was faithfully watching them. He was a state and national bowling champion. He was also an avid golfer; you could always count on him to brighten the greens with his loud vibrant attire. He never missed an opportunity to play.

Curt started his career off by going right into the oil field. When the oil slowed down, he went to work at Big Sky Hardware, but later went back to the oil field...sometimes you just can't get a guy away from it. He made great friends along the way. Curt most recently worked as a gas plant operator for the Hess Corporation in Keene, ND.

Curt was simply good! Not big and animated, not over the top, just simply good.

Curt was born on April 21, 1962 in Sidney, MT and passed away on February 15, 2018 in Keene, ND.

Curt is survived by his loving wife, Stacey Brown of Sidney, MT; parents, Harvey and Bette Brown of Richey, MT; brothers, Ron (Cyndee) Brown of Sidney, MT, Scott (Suzanne) Brown of Moses Lake WA, Rock (Lindsey) Brown of Ellensburg WA; sister, Angie (Jess) Beery of Circle, MT; and many loved nieces and nephews.

Curt is preceded in death by sister, Merisa Brown, and grandparents Robert and Evelyn Eggebrecht and W.J. and Maggie Brown.
