

Knowing What I Know About Heaven

I bet the trumpets play and the angels sing
Every sweet refrain of amazing grace
And the Heaven's hands opened up the gate
And the children dance when they saw Your face
As happy as they were to see You coming
I was just as sad to have to watch You go, oh but
Knowing what I know about Heaven
Believing that you're all the way home
Knowing that you're somewhere better
Is all I need to let you go

I could hope that I could pray you're back
But why on earth would I do that
When you're somewhere, life and love never ends
Oh, knowing what I know about heaven
Where every single voice makes a joyful noise
How sweet the sound when the saints rejoice
To every broken heart and every wounded soul
New life begins on streets of gold

But every tear that's raining here from my eyes
I know the sun is shining where you are
Oh, knowing what I know about Heaven
Believing that you're all the way home
Knowing that you're somewhere better
Is all I need to let you go

I could hope that I could pray you're back
But why on earth would I do that
When you're somewhere, life and love never ends
Oh, knowing what I know about Heaven
I could hope that I could pray you're back
But why on earth would I do that
When you're somewhere, life and love never ends
Oh, knowing what I know about Heaven

Gone But Not Forgotten

*We sat beside your bedside,
Our hearts were crushed and sore;
We did our best to the end,
Til we could do no more.
In tears we watched you sinking,
We watched you fade away;
And though our hearts were breaking,
We knew you could not stay.
You left behind some aching hearts,
That loved you most sincere;
We never shall and never will Forget you Mother dear.*
