

All things have their season, and in their times all things pass under heaven.

A time to be born and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted.

A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to destroy, and a time to build.

A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance.

A time to scatter stones, and a time to gather; a time to embrace, and a time to be far from embraces.

A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away.

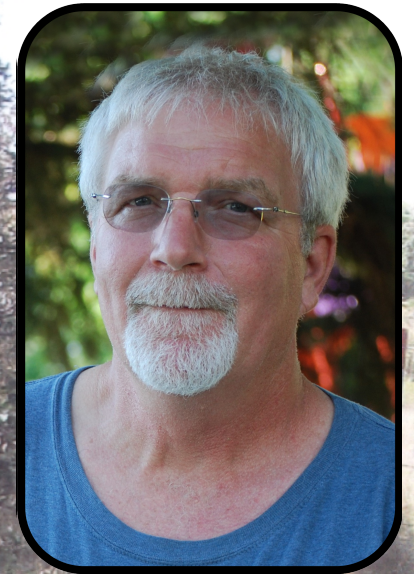

A time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak.

A time of love, and a time of hatred; a time of war, and a time of peace.

Randall "Ole" was born in Sidney, MT, on January 11, 1957, to parents Don and June (Burman) Radke, the youngest of seven children. The family lived at the Smith Creek Ranch south of Sidney, before moving to Wibaux when Ole was 3 years old. Educated in Wibaux Ole loved and excelled at sports. Graduating in 1975, he received a scholarship to play football for the Dickinson Blue Hawks. His dad took such great joy in attending all his games something Ole cherished. He was always especially close to his mother and father.

Ole had a strong work ethic spending his summers in his early high school years working and staying at ranches in the Baker Ekalaka area. Between his junior and senior year he (fudged) his age so he could follow his big brother Moose into the oilfield. He continued to work in the oilfield for years, moving up through the ranks and working as a consultant. Although, the money was better in those positions it took him away from his family, something he was having no part of, preferring to work shift work so he could be home every day. When oil went bust in the 80's Ole took a job as a youth counselor at Sky Ranch for Boys where his sister was principle, his mother a cook and his dad was ranch manager. At Sky Ranch he combined his deep compassion and love with consistent discipline to enhance the outcomes for each boy he worked with. The Radke's moved to Sidney in 1989 where Ole returned to the oil field until becoming injured, after which he attended Dawson Community College, earning an associate degree in parts management. Ole found a new arena of employment in this field of which he also excelled. He found a work home at Hurley's for the last several years.

Ole found his life mate and best friend in his bride, Pam Parker; they were united in marriage on June 25, 1977. Their bond grew strong over the years and others marveled at their relationship. To their marriage were born three sons, Tyler Essex, Lucas Eugene, and Randall Ray, Jr. Each son has inherited many positive qualities from their father, not the least of which included a strong work ethic and deep reverence for family. Ole always deeply loved and enjoyed his sons and more recently his grandkids. He looked forward to and cherished the moments he spent with all nine of his grandkids.

When Ole was just a little guy, he began to develop friends that would last a lifetime. During the different phases of his education he shared common interests and became friends with many. For the various jobs that he held, friendships evolved from mutual dependence on one another and those too would last a lifetime. Ole's friends were very important to him. He enjoyed the time spent with them and was always there when they needed him.

Randall "Ole" was taken from this life in a tragic ATV accident on Tuesday, May 17, 2016, Absaroka Mountains, McLeod, MT.
