In Loving Memory

When you plant seeds
in the lives of others
And water them with Love and Care
You will reap a harvest
of sweet memories
That will follow you everywhere

GROWING OLDER

Unfortunately, growing old is just a part of life.
But it can sometimes be quite comical
When a forgetful husband has a forgetful wife.

He wants me to play a game of cards,
Says it helps the time to pass.
The problem is we never can remember who dealt last.

We can both go into a room and then wonder what for.
Maybe it will come to us before we go back out the door.

"You really shouldn't move my things.
It makes them hard to find."
Then he finds it right where he put it and says,
"Am I losing my mind?"

When I come into the house he asks
"Did you stop at the store today?"
I forgot I told him I was going to stop.
"Oh, well, we didn't need juice anyway."

He's standing in the hallway and says,
"Now what was I going to do?"
"I don't know, were you going to the bathroom?"
"I guess so, but now I don't have to go."

We don't have to worry if clothes don't match
Or if we've combed our hair.
No one is going to mention it. When you're our age,
no one would dare.

Old age can be funny, and it has its benefits.
If we ever get there, we'll tell you all about it.

I'm told that everyone forgets,
So, give life all you've got.
The time to worry is when you can't Remember that you forgot?

The LORD is my Shepherd;
I shall not want.

He maketh me
lie down in green pastures:

He leadeth me beside the still waters,

He restoreth my soul:

He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake. Yea though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death.

*I will fear no evil:
for Thou art with me;*

Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies

Thou anointest my head with oil; My cup runneth over

Surely goodness & mercy shall follow me

all the days of my life;

And I will dwell in the house of the LORD forever.

- Psalm 23
